Summary

I believe I'm a strong fit for this role because of my hands-on experience in both Web3 and AI-driven projects, where I led social media strategy and community growth across platforms like Twitter and Discord, scaling communities to 100k+ users and coordinating global campaigns with KOLs and partners across Asia, North America, and Europe. With a multicultural background rooted in both Singapore and China, I'm highly adaptable to cross-timezone teamwork and international collaboration. I'm fluent in English, comfortable working with global teams, and continuously exploring AI tools to optimize content creation and marketing workflows.
